

LCAA Airbag

While there is still time!!

As you all know from January's Airbag which I know you all read completely.

The FAA has posted a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking which could destroy our hobby by enacting remote ID requirements for all UAS (Unmanned Aerial Systems) over 250g, which includes both the hobbyist and commercial operators of Airplanes, Helicopters and QuadCopters.

In two weekends, on February 29th, there will be a NPRM protest held in Washington DC in front of FAA headquarters (Hancock Park) for model aviation hobbyists like ourselves demonstrate let the FAA know how we feel about the proposed changes.

While we are not affiliated with this protest, we invite you to consider participating in a safe and conscientious way. See the flyer here: <https://www.helpsaveourhobby.com/>. And in case you have any thoughts to the contrary this protest is absolutely taking place inside the SFRA, so don't even think about flying at the event. Come out and let the FAA know what you think!

As mentioned in the January Airbag, the NPRM is still in a comment phase where you can express your concerns about this new legislation. We highly recommend you research these rules, and enter your comments before the deadline next week (2/28) at the Federal Registry website. See the January Airbag for a sample comment. Keep in mind that various folks are recommending you do not just cut and paste, but write an original comment drawing from these sentiments. Check out this video from Flite Test regarding how best to make your comments count.

I know this is shorter notice as well BUT.... Kwang from Hobby Hanger is having a meeting to discuss the proposed FAA requirement and the protest at Hobby Hangar Saturday, February 22 at 6:30. That's tomorrow folks if you're reading this Friday night when I hit send.. Several club members already have plans to go, and everyone else that wants to join is welcome.

Remember,

Due to a scheduling conflict with the Reston Government Center our next club meeting will be Tuesday March 3rd. We will go back to the second Tuesday of the month starting in April.

The park is closed for hunting next Friday: 2/28

LCAA Airbag

While there is still time!!

As you all know from January's Airbag which I know you all read completely.

The FAA has posted a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking which could destroy our hobby by enacting remote ID requirements for all UAS (Unmanned Aerial Systems) over 250g, which includes both the hobbyist and commercial operators of Airplanes, Helicopters and QuadCopters.

In two weekends, on February 29th, there will be a NPRM protest held in Washington DC in front of FAA headquarters (Hancock Park) for model aviation hobbyists like ourselves demonstrate let the FAA know how we feel about the proposed changes.

While we are not affiliated with this protest, we invite you to consider participating in a safe and conscientious way. See the flyer here: <https://www.helpsaveourhobby.com/>. And in case you have any thoughts to the contrary this protest is absolutely taking place inside the SFRA, so don't even think about flying at the event. Come out and let the FAA know what you think!

As mentioned in the January Airbag, the NPRM is still in a comment phase where you can express your concerns about this new legislation. We highly recommend you research these rules, and enter your comments before the deadline next week (2/28) at the Federal Registry website. See the January Airbag for a sample comment. Keep in mind that various folks are recommending you do not just cut and paste, but write an original comment drawing from these sentiments. Check out this video from Flite Test regarding how best to make your comments count.

I know this is shorter notice as well BUT.... Kwang from Hobby Hanger is having a meeting to discuss the proposed FAA requirement and the protest at Hobby Hangar Saturday, February 22 at 6:30. That's tomorrow folks if you're reading this Friday night when I hit send.. Several club members already have plans to go, and everyone else that wants to join is welcome.

Remember,

Due to a scheduling conflict with the Reston Government Center our next club meeting will be Tuesday March 3rd. We will go back to the second Tuesday of the month starting in April.

The park is closed for hunting next Friday: 2/28